HOW IT CAME TO BE...

In 2008, I took the plunge and started my own marketing company. Rather than be a stereotypical agency, I wanted to create a business that reflected my passion for giving business owners the chance to grow their business, based on cost effective marketing and a return on investment they are able to measure and prove. I've carefully hand-picked my team of four, making sure they share my values. I consider myself part of their team, rather than their boss and we're all very close.

PROJECT BACKGROUND

We've worked on hundreds of businesses from all industries. Our main skill is marketing psychology which puts us in a unique position to be able to think like your customer. This is why we're successful. We operate on a white label basis, which means we don't take credit for your work and we work as part of your team. We make you SHINE, not us.

In return, I won't ever insist you sign a contract and I will never give you false promises. If something isn't right I will be the first to tell you.
